special edition of the 996 for the year 2000.

The car, named the 911 Millennium edition was based on the Carrera 4 coupé. Only 911 cars were made. It came with polished “turbo look” wheels.

This special edition was finished in Violet

Chromaflair paint with natural leather interior and dark burr maple trim.

It's more about the 997. But whether you compare '01 Carrera-vs-'11 Carrera, 991 beats 996 in 4 seconds on the Hockenheim (I don't even try to imagine the difference at the Nordschleife). But yes, you're right about the benefit of buying a 996 now. I'd buy the 2001 model.

Carrera 996 has been seriously beaten up and downplayed by anyone ready to jump on the “we hate water-cooled” 911 band wagon. Yes, there are known problems, some of which can be catastrophic. However, there are thousands of 996 cars that haven’t had issues and have been well taken care of.

Porsche had to develop a new 911 in order to continue producing one at all. Carrera faithful revolted over such radical notions as a water-cooled powerplant, a longer wheelbase, and more comfort.

A timeless design, a contemporary interpretation. The unmistakable silhouette of the 911 is characterized by its iconic flyline. It has barely changed since 1963, and has shaped the DNA of all Porsche models. Including, of course, the 911 Cabriolet and Targa models.

If Porsche has evolved so, it seems, have its customers. Expect 60mph to come and go in 4.8 seconds, and Porsche claim exemption from the 'limited to 155mph' brigade by letting the Carrera 4S run on to 177mph. Overall. The 996-series Porsche 911 Carrera 4 is, at present, in a bit of a slump.
