The Debate On The Crusades

There is so much debate concerning the Middle East and the land of Israel. The debate has raged for centuries, but the greatest myth perpetuated as truth is the idea that the Crusades were done in greed, by the Catholic Church, seeking to colonize the land and convert the Muslims. It is true, the Crusades were sanctioned by Pope Urban II in 1095, but it began in response to the pleas from ...

The Crusades helped with a LOT of information trading. Architectural techniques, mathematical theories, science, art and lots of more have been shared because of the Crusades. However, the Crusades had one flaw. They were a forced push from the rich, ultra powerful church to attack a country, for glory, for power, for riches, for land and for God.

The Crusades... Good or Bad? | CreateDebate

My understanding of the First Crusade is that it was largely based no reports of abuse of pilgrims, though whether that abuse was remotely institutionalised or simply the activity of individuals and small groups acting on their own behalf (just as there were thieves and bandits in Western Europe) is certainly open to debate. The First Crusade ...

endless debate and controversy, and there is no sign of it abating at the present time, especially as 2004 marks the 800th anniversary of the crusade's capture of Constantinople on 12 and 13 April 1204. Part of the fascina-tion with the Fourth Crusade undoubtedly lies in the extraordinary reversal of its original intention.
